MOVING TO HOLLYWOOD

R. L. HINCKLEY SELLS HOME AT 137 SOUTH JACKSON FOR CONSIDERATION OF $5800

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hinckley have sold their pretty home at 137 South Jackson street and are moving to Hollywood in order to be more conveniently situated with reference to the plumbing business which Mr. Hinckley is carrying on in that city. They have been residents of Glendale for ten years and say it is a great wrench to tear themselves away from a town in which they have passed so many pleasant years and where they have so many friends. Their daughter Dorothy has one year more in the Intermediate school and is very sorry to leave her schoolmates there. Barton Hinckley will enter the Hollywood High School which opens September 3d, and this fact will hurry their departure, which will occur some time between the first and the tenth of September. The Hinckleys will still keep their membership in the dinner club to which they belong here and hope not to lose sight of their friends altogether.

The purchasers to whom they have sold are Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Arnett from Ontario, California, who have five sons in the service of their country and four children at home who will enter the Glendale schools. Mr. and Mrs. Hinckley believe they will be a great addition to the community and are glad their old home is to be occupied by such a patriotic family. The consideration for the Hinckley residence was $5800.

THEATRICAL ATTRACTIONS

The Palace Grand Theatre has quite an array of coming attractions, for Manager Robert Jensen has taken Time by the forelock and is competing with Los Angeles theatres in securing the big pictures soon after they are released for screen production. Tonight "Joan the Woman," with Geraldine Farrar in the title role, and supported by Wallace Reid and Hobart Bosworth, will furnish the attraction.

Wednesday Herbert Rawlinson in his great "Smashing Through," will furnish plenty of exciting situations.

The Thursday program this week features Clara Kimball Young in "The Claw," which has been described as a thrilling story of the African Veldt, that mystery land which lends itself so well to scenes of great adventure.

Friday a dog hero will feature the play "Baree, Son of Kazan," in a series of pictures of Indian life, of hunters and trappers and of wild animals in their native haunts. Nell Shipman will take the part of the heroine of the story.

Douglas Fairbanks in "Bound in Morocco" is certain to draw big houses at the afternoon and evening performances Saturday.

Count Leo Tolstoy's great problem novel and sermon, "The Resurrection," which was so much discussed when it was first published, will be shown Monday in its dramatized form, in which Pauline Frederick will be featured as Katushka.

Tuesday that great expose of the Hohenzollerns and of Prussianism, "To Hell with the Kaiser," will be presented.

WISCONSIN PICNIC

Just listen to the call for all who ever lived in the State of Wisconsin, to meet for an all-day picnic reunion in Sycamore Grove, Los Angeles, Saturday, August 31st, 1918. Come as early as you can and spend the day with friends, who will come from all over our Southland. We will have the county registers so you can find your old home neighbors even if there are five thousand present.

There will be a brief program with music and greetings from Badger State speakers, but the main object will be to have a good time. We will have popular patriotic songs and Old Glory will wave in the breezes.

We want to see all the visitors from the old home state who are in California. Bring your lunch baskets well filled. Coffee will be served free to all who buy the new badges.

RED CROSS WORK

Mrs. Leppelman and daughter were hostesses at the Glendale Red Cross Chapter Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Duffield, Red Cross Secretary, is greatly encouraged by the good work done by Glendale women at headquarters last week. If they keep up the pace she says there will be no difficulty about finishing the allotment of dresses, pajamas, etc., assigned the Chapter when it is due. Now that women are coming back from the beaches and the mountains she expects them to take hold of the work with renewed zeal and energy.

THE ENGLISH VIEW

MISS CRAMPTON RECEIVES LETTER FROM COUSIN IN GREAT BRITAIN DESCRIBING LIFE

The following letter addressed to Miss Grace Crampton, 1011 Chestnut street, this city, from a friend at Newark, Nottinghamshire county, England, contains many facts relative to war conditions in that country and the impression which American soldiers are making there, which will be interesting to readers here. Newark is a war center where troops are quartered and where there is a large aerdrome. It has been bombed by German flyers several times. The writer is employed in a garage where oil and gas are furnished to army men.

Topleigh, Winthorpe Road,
Newark, June 5, 1918.

Dear Grace:

I have just received your lovely letter and I have about half an hour to spare, so I thought I would write to you.

No, dear, I am not coming to see you until after the war because it will be so risky. Mother does not want me to leave here and there will be nothing but work for a lot of us girls. I think to work under better conditions than we do here would make life a little pleasanter.

All the boys are getting killed and so marrying will be out of the question, although I have two boys, one an officer in the Royal Engineers and at the front, the other in the ranks.

Now you ask about our brave boys from over the sea. I have known quite a lot of Sammies. You see they cycle in from the camps and being a garage they leave their cycles and I have to talk to them and they seem very funny to us. The English girls absolutely go silly over them and so I think you need not worry that they are not having a good time.

You ask about the food. Well, we are better off than we were some time ago. We have sugar cards and are allowed one-half pound per head per week, so you see we do not have very sweet tea or puddings. Of meat we are allowed eight ounces per head per week. This is also purchased by coupons and includes all tinned meat but not fish, and it does not seem to go very far. Butter is getting more plentiful but all winter we have lived on one pound of margarine for the week. Tinned peaches, etc., are very scarce and are three to four shillings per tin (75c to $1). Jam is unprocurable and marmalade very dear. Bacon is plentiful now although it has been unprocurable.

You will see things are very bad and I am afraid the fruit is going to be very scarce. The trees have a "blight" and all are dropping off. Gooseberries, currants, and every kind, even potatoes are dying.

We are just passing under a black cloud. I hope the sun will soon shine. This morning the news is awful. The Germans 47 miles from Paris, three years of fighting and no nearing the end. I hope the war will soon be over and the boys come home.

My employer has a commission in the Notts Motor Volunteer Corps. This is purely voluntary and he is in khaki only on Sundays, but I think he is going for ten days' training and he is teaching me to take sole charge of the business. I feel very proud that he has such trust in me. You see our business is practically all military and I meet anybody from a Brigadier General to a private and they treat me well, too. The officers are very nice and I know many of them personally, so I have a good time.

I will send you some more "snaps" next time, but we have great difficulty in obtaining films. For instance, one of the branches of our business is photography and last year where we were selling four and five gross of the V.P.K. and No. 2 Brownie films, we can only buy six films from the Kodak Co for the month, so we are rationed, aren't we? Cameras are absolutely unsalable without films, so we have to be very sparing.

I saw the account of the earthquake in the paper but I would rather have that than an air raid.

Well, dear, give my very best love to Auntie and Uncle and keep heaps for yourself.

Your loving cousin,
IRENE.

FRENCH SUCCESSES CONTINUE

ARE DRIVING A DEEP WEDGE IN MOST VITAL PART OF GERMAN LINE ON WESTERN FRONT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, August 20.—Paris dispatches at four this afternoon said the French advance still continues and is driving a deep wedge into the most vital part of the German line on the western front.

The dispatches said the French gains threatened to outflank the Germans both in Southern Picardy and on the western end of the Soissons-Rheims front.

The Germans have been forced to withdraw their heavy artillery behind Noyon and late this afternoon the French had taken all the hills commanding the Aisne and the Ailett valley.

FRENCH ADVANCE ON TEN MILE FRONT

ATTACK MADE THIS MORNING ENDANGERS ENTIRE GERMAN LINE FROM AISNE TO EAST OF SOISSONS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, August 20.—The French attacked this morning on a ten-mile front between the Oise and the Aisne and had advanced two miles up to nine o'clock and were still progressing.

The advance endangers the entire German line from the Aisne to east of Soissons and may force the Germans to withdraw to the Chemin des Dames.

Simultaneously the French attacked on a wide front north of the Oise, reaching the outskirts of Thiescourt and capturing Braquemont village and Fendu wood.

They averaged a mile advance on this front despite the most stubborn resistance.

SHELL NOYON FROM TWO SIDES

FRENCH ARE CLOSE TO ROYE AND ARE TODAY VIRTUALLY OCCUPYING LASSIGNY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, August 20.—The French official statement today detailed further advances between the Oise and the Aisne made last night.

The French captured the village of Vassens and early this morning continued to exploit their gains on both sides of Noyon.

They approached near to Roye and are virtually occupying Lassigny.

Noyon is now being shelled from two directions. The French are within five miles of Noyon from the south.

FOOD RIOTS IN PETROGRAD

WORKMEN WITHOUT FOOD PARADE STREETS AND PRECIPITATE STREET FIGHT IN WHICH MANY ARE KILLED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

AMSTERDAM, August 20.—Berlin dispatches report that hundreds of persons were killed in Petrograd in fierce food riots.

Workmen without bread for two days paraded the streets shouting, "Away with the Germans," and at the same time were begging the Germans to assist them in overthrowing the Bolsheviki.

The paraders encountered guards at Smolny Institute.

A street fight ensued in which hundreds on both sides were killed.

JAPANESE TROOPS IN RUSSIA

ARRIVE AT MOUTH OF AMUR RIVER TO PROTECT ALLIED INTERESTS IN THAT REGION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, August 20.—An official dispatch today reported the landing of Japanese troops at the mouth of the Amur river to protect allied interests there.

RUMORS RIFE IN VIENNA THAT EMPEROR WILL NOT SEND AUSTRIAN TROOPS TO FRANCE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

ZURICH, Switzerland, August 20.—Vienna dispatches say that rumors are current that Emperor Karl has refused to send Austrian troops to the western front.

WASHINGTON, August 20.—The navy department announced today that a steamer rammed and probably sunk a German submarine on August 17 off the Virginia coast.

NEW METHODS

L. M. PARKER TO TAKE UP VOCATIONAL TRAINING WORK IN LIMA SCHOOLS

Mrs. A. M. Parker, of 311 South Louise, reports that her son, L. M. Parker, and his family left Sunday for Lima, Ohio, where he will be employed in vocational training work. It appears that the State of Ohio has taken advantage of a recent enactment by Congress making federal appropriations for the encouragement of vocational training and that state is undertaking to co-ordinate its schools with its factories in such a way that the theoretical training of the schools will be supplemented by practical factory work to such an extent that by the time a student has completed his course he will be a practical mechanic and can at once secure a position at good wages, instead of having to begin at the bottom. It is an experiment and until it has been tried no one can tell just how it will work out. It will be Mr. Parker's business to co-operate the work of the school and the factory. It will be watched with great interest by educators in other states and may lead to quite a revolution in our school teaching of mechanics.

HIS FOURTEENTH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. U. F. Newlin, of 530 North Louise street, entertained Saturday afternoon with a luncheon in celebration of the fourteenth birthday of her son, Frederick Newlin. A pink color scheme featured the table decorations and the handsome basket suspended from the chandelier contained floating streamers attached to the favors. The unique place cards were prepared by the guest of honor. The guest list included Lee Payne, Edgar Snyder, Katherine Berry, Emily Squiers, and a number of other young people who dropped in late in the afternoon, which was devoted to games and informal entertainment.

FORREST JESSE WOODWARD

Last Saturday, August 17th, 1918, a nine-pound boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Marcus A. Woodward of 560 Orange street, this city, who is destined to become a famous lawyer unless he upsets all the plans of his parents and the traditions of his father's family; for, according to Mr. Woodward, all the men on both sides of his house are lawyers, many of them celebrated. The boy has been named Forrest James Woodward after two uncles, both of whom are judges. One of these uncles, Judge Jesse Woodward, is on the bench at Phoenix, Arizona. The other honoree is a great uncle, Judge Forrest Woodward of Pennsylvania. Mr. Woodward's father is a well-known attorney in Pennsylvania, a personal friend of Philander C. Knox, U. S. Attorney General, who owes election, in great part, it is said, to the campaign work of his friend. One of the most celebrated cases handled by the grandfather of this new boy involved the raising of the bridges over the Ohio River to allow steamers to pass under them and thus afford competition with the railroads. It had its final hearing before General Seibert of the War Department, now second in command under General Pershing of the American Expeditionary Forces in France. His decision upheld the contention of Attorney Woodward and it resulted in greatly lowering the freight rates along the river and in territory tributary thereto.

Marcus Woodward is a Son of the American Revolution, his ancestor, William Woodward, who came over in the good ship Elizabeth and settled in Philadelphia, having fought side by side with his eleven sons in the Revolutionary War. His father and an uncle fought in the Civil War. By a singular combination of circumstances he has no relatives in the present war, for he is the youngest in a family connection of thirty, all the male members of which, as stated, are lawyers.

Mrs. Woodward is a daughter of the late Dr. Cunningham of North Adams, Mass. She came to the Pacific Coast in 1912 and met Mr. Woodward in Phoenix, Arizona, where they were married. The baby is the third son of the house, his two older brothers having likewise been named for relatives who are distinguished jurists.

RECOVERING FROM OPERATION

Ralph Carmichael, son of W. S. Carmichael of 433 Cedar street, is in the hospital at Lower Reservation, San Pedro, where he underwent an operation last Friday. The surgeons report that he is doing very well but that he will be confined to the hospital for about three weeks. His mother visited him Sunday.

FAREWELL PARTY

MRS. LACY AND HER DAUGHTER WHO WILL SOON MOVE AWAY ARE SURPRISED

A farewell party in honor of Mrs. Rebecca Lacy and her daughter, Miss Jennie Lacy, of 135 South Kenwood street, was given at the First Methodist church of Glendale Monday evening by members of the Ladies' Aid Society and of other organizations in which the guests of honor have been loyal workers. As it was a surprise party, no preliminary announcement could be made, but their many friends were notified by telephone as far as the committee of arrangements could reach them, and a goodly company assembled to express their regrets at losing these valued church members and to wish them good fortune in their new home, for they are moving to Highland Park for the convenience of Miss Lacy, who is enrolling as a pupil in the art school of U. S. C. at Garvanza. They expect to leave the latter part of the week.

The program of the evening was quite informal and included musical numbers by Miss Isgrigg, Miss McQuinn and Miss Margaret Lusby. Punch and wafers were served and a very pleasant evening enjoyed. Mrs. and Miss Lacy have been such excellent workers in the church that they will be greatly missed there and in social circles generally.

FRATERNAL BROTHERHOOD MEETS

Monday evening a social meeting of the Fraternal Brotherhood Lodge was held in the Knight of Pythias Hall at Brand and Park avenues. This is by no means a new organization for it has been in existence something over seventeen years, but it seems lately to have taken a new lease of life and social meetings have been deemed advisable.

The Monday evening program was children's night and though no formal program was arranged the youngsters were made very welcome and invited to entertain the company with any "stunts" in which they were proficient. Prizes in the shape of Thrift Stamps were given in reward for these efforts, which were won by little Violet Lampman and Lois Humphrey. There were several musical numbers and following the program the guests played whist. About thirty were present. The regular meetings of the lodge are held in the same place the third Monday evening in each month. The officers are John Humphrey, president, Dorothy Hunt, vice-president, Mrs. Humphrey, chaplain, Mrs. Olive Wright, secretary, Mrs. D. W. Hunt, treasurer.

NEW CHAIRMAN IN FOOD CONSERVATION

Mrs. A. A. Barton, chairman of local committee on food conservation, announces that Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, 200 Orange street, has been appointed in her place. Mrs. Barton has taken up the work of the Parent-Teacher Association and feels that this will demand her entire attention during the coming year. She desires at this time to express her thanks to the press and all associations and committee workers who have so ably assisted her and bespeaks for the new chairman the same efficient help. Until further notice the sugar permits for canning sugar may be obtained from Mrs. Hutchinson, 200 Orange street, phone 607-J; Mrs. Bacon, 115 North San Fernando road; Mrs. Ogg, 149 South Kenwood; Mrs. Barton, 330 North Howard, from 8 to 11 o'clock in the mornings.

Mrs. Hutchinson comes to the work with a wide experience in public affairs and will do most efficient work along this line of governmental service.

EXEMPTION BOARD NOTES

The local Exemption Board reports that the men who were called for August 26th will be mobilized Saturday, August 24th, and will not be entrained for Camp Lewis until Wednesday, the 28th, under an order recently received.

Chairman Lanterman, who has been taking a vacation at the beach, is expected to be back at his desk next Monday.

Registration of young men who have reached the age of 18 years since June 5th, 1918, will probably begin on Saturday. The Board can make no estimate of the probable number of registrants.

WEATHER FORECAST—Tonight and Wednesday fair. Continued warm in the interior. Gentle westerly winds.

YOUR POLITICAL RESPONSIBILITY

There is a need of everybody becoming seriously interested in the affairs of the government of the nation, the state and the county. There is a criminal carelessness on the part of many apparently good citizens when it comes to the question of giving proper attention to the selection of men well qualified for holding the holding the offices they seek.

Men become so anxious to get the almighty dollar within their grasp that they are willing to allow scheming politicians elect to office men who do not represent the people's interests.

The average business man now-a-days has no preference as to candidates and he is careful not to put himself in a position to know anything about the merits of the men who are seeking office.

It is because of this indifference on the part of so many people that our country is at war today. One tenth of the money spent for preparedness five and ten years ago that is being spent now to carry on the war would likely have prevented war. Foresight is what is needed in Congress and in the Assembly.

Make a study of the candidates presenting themselves for your consideration at the primary election August 27 and then be fearless in carrying out your decision. Do not hsitate to let your neighbor know why you are supporting a certain candidate providing you can give an intelligent explanation.

HOW MANY EVER READ A BOOK?

The people whom you meet on the street in a day's walk—how many of them ever read a book? You take it for granted that they all read something—and so they do. But in many instances they stop with a newspaper or with signboards. Librarians know that 10 to 12 per cent of the population come to the library. Then there must be considered the superior persons who think a public library is a sort of charitable institution—"for the poor and that kind of people"—they believe that a social disgrace rests upon those who use municipal libraries. They would as quickly send their children to a foundlings' home.

Others buy their books at railway news stands or take literary counsel from the girl in the hotel office, at the desk where newspapers, novels, theater tickets and pepsin gum are sold. "Here's what everybody's readin'" she says, "they say it's lovely."

They take her advice and buy the book and feel, thank heaven, that anyway they are up to date. The feminine half of this class has been epitomized by George Ade in his brief but sufficient description of one girl—"she knew that Columbus discovered America and what kind of complexion cream to buy—and she let it go at that."—Boston Transcript.

WARFARE IN ANCIENT DAYS

The first standing army was formed by Saul, 1093 B. C.

The catapult was invented by Dionysius 399 B. C.

The sword came from ancient Egypt and was used throughout Palestine, Syria and Asia Minor, India and the western world. It was in Egypt that the three shapes of the sword blades originated, these being the straight, the curved and the half curved. The Roman sword was larger that that of the Greeks and in the days of the empire many of the sheaths were so covered with precious stones as to be veritable art treasures. Among the Moslems the highest title given to a warrior of renown is "the sword of Allah." The Chinese made swords of iron as early as 1879 B. C.

Bullets of stone were used in 1514, while bombs came into general use in 1634. Bomb vessels had their origin in France in 1681. Fire ships first appeared in the early part of the sixteenth century.

The use of cannon dates back to the year 1338. Artillery constructed of brass first appeared in 1635. Among the curiosities of artillery odd inventions have a great place. Cannon have been made of the most unlikely materials. Leather was used as early as Henry VIII's days at the siege of Boulogne. The Scotch used leather guns in 1640 to batter Lord Conway's fortifications at Newbourne. Artillery was first used in war by the Moors at Algociras, Spain, in 1341. Cannon were first used by the English, by direction of the governor of Calais, in 1383.

Iron bullets were first mentioned in the Foedera in 1550. Muskets were first used in 1414, during the siege of Arras, while chain shot was a device of a Dutch admiral, De Witt, in 1666.

The bayonet was invented in Bayonne, France, in 1670.

Pistols were first employed by the British cavalry in 1544. The revolving chambered breech of the pistol was patented by Colt in 1835.

Muskets supplanted the bow and arrow among the British soldiery in 1521.

Spain was the first nation to equip the foot soldiers with muskets.

Leaden bullets came into use shortly before the end of the sixteenth century.

The Minie rifle was invented about 1833 by M. Minie of Vincenne. The battering ram has its beginning with Artemones, 441 B. C., while the first army arranged in a regular line of battle was that of Palamedes of Argas.

Palamedes is credited with devising the idea of placing sentinels with pickets around a camp. The watchword as used by sentinels is supposed to have been his conception, also.

The most famous cavalrymen of antiquity were the Parthians. Their invasion of Judea, 40 B. C., resulted in such terrible devastation of the country that one hundred years later the terrors of the Parthian invasion gave the Apostle John the idea for one of his most vivid pictures.—Exchange.

SHIP EARLY CAMPAIGN

A "Ship Early" campaign is being waged up and down the Coast by agents of the United States Railroad Administration, who hope thereby to avert winter congestion and lessen the demands that will be made upon the railroads during the season of heavy shipments. How the public may assist in the campaign is pointed out by traffic officers in this vicinity.

(1) Industries should store during the present summer months sufficient material to meet their needs for the coming winter.

(2) Wholesale concerns and distributors should persuade customers to take immediate delivery of goods.

(3) Encourage the use wherever possible of additional storage space for factory products nearest the point of ultimate consumption.

(4) Fuel oil consumers should stock up for their own protection.

(5) Hold question of early movement and storage of lumber for commercial purposes in abeyance for present.

(6) Comply with Fuel Administration's suggestions as to storage of coal.

Traffic representatives are already making a careful canvass of all industries, wholesale houses, jobbers, retailers and other receivers and shippers of freight located on their lines, with a view to securing their co-operation.

THE GERMAN BEATITUDES

It is not known whether the following creed was composed by a German or by a foreign student of Germanism. It has the ring of genuineness; it is not far-fetched or overdrawn. The military masters of Germany have acted upon this creed, and the German Army, their disciples, has lived up to it.

"Ye have heard how in olden times it was said, 'Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth'; but I say unto you, 'Blessed are the valiant, for they shall make the earth their throne.' And ye have heard men say, 'Blessed are the poor in spirit'; but I say unto you, 'Blessed are the great in soul and the free in spirit, for they shall enter into Valhalla.' And ye have heard men say, 'Blessed are the peacemakers'; but I say unto you, 'Blessed are the war makers, for they shall be called, if not the children of Jehovah, the children of Odin, who is greater than Jehovah."

GROCERS MUST NOT HOLD BACK CANNING SUGAR

Although strict conservation of sugar is necessary to prevent a serious shortage, grocers are not authorized to refuse to sell sugar for domestic canning and preserving to their regular customers.

Many complaints have been received from housewives that their grocers had refused to sell them sugar for canning and preserving, leading in many instances to spoilage of fruits and berries. The grocers, it developed had taken this method of protecting their own supplies in the belief that their requirements would be further curtailed.

In order to care for the California fruit and berry crop, the food authorities at Washington have notified the state food administration that California's sugar allotment would be slightly increased to cover home canning requirements, this sugar to be taken from allottments made for other purposes.

All housewives are entitled to what sugar they need for home canning, and they may purchase the first 25 pounds on their verbal statement that it is to be used for that purpose. Successive purchases in 25-pound lots can be made only on a certificate issued by the food administration or its official representatives. This method of regulation was put into effect to insure equitable distribution. No grocer should refuse to sell up to the first 25 pounds or refuse to honor the certificate, except in cases where he might have good reason to suspect that the sugar was to be used for other purposes.—Food Administration Bulletin.

MONTAVILLE FLOWERS

Republican candidate for Congress in the Ninth District, will deliver in Glendale High School Auditorium, Tuesday evening, August 20, at 8:15 o'clock, the speech that aroused all Southern California. Subject: "You, Your Congressman and Your Country." Every patriotic American should hear it. All invited.

WHY HE WAITED

An old man, clad in a somewhat youthful suit of light gray flannel, sat on a bench in the park enjoying the spring day.

"What's the matter, sonny?" he asked a small urchin who lay on the grass and stared at him intently. "Why don't you go and play?"

"Don't want to," replied the boy.

"But it is not natural," the old gentleman insisted, "for a boy to be so quiet. Why don't you want to?"

"Oh I'm just waitin'," the little fellow answered. "I'm just waitin' till you get up. A man painted that bench about fifteen minutes ago."—Ex.

WHITE HAS BROAD PLATFORM

To the Members of the John Robert White Club, present and prospective:

The voters of the Sixty-first Assembly District who, by joining this Club, have expressed their preference for John Robert White, Jr., as the next assemblyman, are so numerous as to make it impracticable to reach them all by telephone or mail, hence this means is taken of rendering a general report of the progress of the campaign to date.

From the very first, the candidacy of Mr. White has met with a hearty response from the citizens of all parts of the district—his broad platform is appealing to all voters in general as against the "single-plank" platforms of his oppoents, who, respectively, are directing their appeals to some specific class.

The voters appreciate the fact that the law-making branch of the state government discharges those functions which are of the utmost importance to the whole people, and feel that the members of the assembly should be thoroughly representative.

The citizens of the Sixty-first Assembly District are indicating more and more as the canvass progresses that they desire an assemblyman who is representative of the entire district, rather than representative of one particular sex, sect or section.

Each of the candidates is unreservedly in favor of national and state prohibition and there is nothing to choose among them on that score—the Anti-Saloon League has so declared. But beyond that a mature and experienced citizen is needed and when the committee induced Mr. White to make the campaign they selected him because he was free from fads and fancies, he was not an office seeker scrambling for the nomination of opposing political parties, but a conservative and successful business man who had lived and paid taxes during the past twenty-two years in various parts of the district—in Burbank six years, in Highland Park six years and in Glendale ten years—and who not only was familiar with the needs of its citizens but was intensely alive to the serious and all-important business of maintaining the state upon a war footing of efficiency and economy, to the exclusion of all expensive untried schemes. The selection of Mr. White has been very generally approved and reports from all portions of the district indicate that he will be nominated by the great body of citizens of the district who are interested in the intrinsically meritorious principles for which he stands.

Any citizens not already enrolled in the John Robert White Club are invited to telephone Glendale 1573 or call at headquarters, 310 South Brand boulevard, and join.

Very respectfully,

CHAS. L. CHANDLER,
Secretary.

TO THE VOTERS OF GLENDALE

On next Tuesday you will vote for a congressman for this District. After first winning the war, the greatest problem confronting the District is flood control.

I wish to impress upon you that the cost of permanently and effectually controlling these floods is a burden too great for the taxpayers of the District to take upon themselves It is the unquestionable duty of the United States Government to aid very materially for the conservation and storage of the flood waters in the mountains.

The $4,450,000 flood bonds which this District voted because of changed conditions, will not do much more work than $2,000,000 would have done when they were voted. I can do much more good for flood control and conservation in congress than I can here in the District as Chief Engineer.

For four years I have been compiling national and foreign data relative to floods and flood control, and I know I am better equipped to do you a great service in congress than any other candidate. For four years you have been observing my work and my conduct. No hours have been too long, no Saturday afternoon or holidays too precious to give to your work. I am asking you and all other friends who have aided me in flood control matters and in the carrying of our bond election to give me your vote next Tuesday.

I do not think there is a voter in the District who will question my ability to put things through when I attempt to do so. It was very easy for me to get from the State Legislature $250,000, which is a part of the promised $1,000,000 from the State to the Flood Control District. Nor was it difficult for me to go to Washington and secure the release of $2,250,000 of our bonds after other prominent men had failed, and it must be that I know how to do things.

Should you nominate me next Tuesday and subsequently elect me to congress, I will promise you that you will be pleased with the work which I can and will do for you.

JAMES W. REAGAN.
Chief Engineer Flood Control.

Don't forget the Primary Election Aug. 27th—the most important election in twenty years. VOTE FOR FLOWERS.

THE SPIRIT OF FRANCE

Much has been told of the spirit of France since the war began. Many heroic things—victories, sacrifices, courage beyond belief, uncomplaining resistance to the slow agony of hunger, cold and personal loss, have developed from this marvelous, idealistic devotion to their own land.

Nothing illustrates it better than a tale which a Red Cross worker brings back to America.

Last winter sugar was scarce in France, even as it is now,—so scarce that it was and is an almost unknown luxury to many.

Officials of the Red Cross decided to invite the school children of Paris to a luncheon. So all the small folks of the city were gathered together and feasted on the great cups of chocolate which is their delight, with an ample supply of bread.

Then because candy is no longer made in France, because the land of French pastry knows pastry no more, because there must be a surprise, a final treat, a "bonne bouche," each little guest, out of the stores of the Red Cross, was given to eat a lump of sugar, one of the half dominoes of loaf sugar.

There were smiles of thanks, grateful words of delighted appreciation from these children of Paris, starved for sweets through so many weary months.

But then—a pause.

A few of the scores and scores of children ate their sugar joyously; others looked at it longingly; but most of it was at once whisked out of sight, clasped closely in little hands, slipped into tiny pockets.

Then came surprised questionings from those giving and serving the luncheon—and whispered, half-shy explanations in response.

"Yes, yes, every one loved sugar, but—" and then it was discovered that each small person had the same thought, born of the wonderful spirit of France, quite without other prompting.

If the sugar were taken home, saved quite carefully, it might be put into a tiny box and sent to a soldier, fighting at the front for France. We in America now are asked to eat not more than two pounds of sugar a month—which is far more than the French are getting—in order that we may send a part of our usual amount to our soldiers in France and that we may share with these little French patriots.

FAIR PLAY IN WAR

The old saying states that "all's fair in love and war." Still for a good many centuries there has been a certain feeling of fair play in warfare. Honorable men have looked at it as a sort of game in which you could not go beyond certain rules.

So when it was reported that the Germans were rigging up their airplanes to look just like those of our allies, it is not strange that the Americans refer to them as "dirty dogs." One can scarcely think of an American airman resorting to a trick like that. A certain repulsion for unfair play would make him think he would rather take his chances in a plane under his true colors.

Today's dispatches tell of German soldiers in American and French uniforms, also of carrying machine guns on stretchers. Frequently there have been reports of wounded German prisoners attempting to murder their captors who were rendering them merciful assistance. When the Germans resort to strategem contrary to all decency, it is an indication that they are getting toward the end of their tether.

Our boys are quick thinkers on the battlefield, and they are very sharp to size up the tricks the Germans try to put over. They will not get fooled very often. They will laugh at a good deal of the stuff the Huns will pull on them. Our boys will place their reliance principally on manly fighting and heroic deeds of valor. Their training in sport will help them here. They have been used to the ball field from early years to meet trick players and to size up and block their games. It will be the same in the war. The tricky fighter will stand no better show than the tricky ball player.

War is not won by smart little dodges like imitating our airplanes. That style of fighting will only serve to anger the opposing army, and nerve them on to stop that style of fighting. There was never in all history such an unpopular enemy as the Boche.—St. Joseph News-Press.

SAVED SHIPMATE'S LIFE

Few reports of heroism made to the navy department are more remarkable than that concerning James Marcio, ship cook, first class, who will probably receive a gold life-saving medal, in addition to the letter of commendation sent him by the secretary of the navy. In the midst of a terrific gale Chief Quartermaster Eddker H. Robertson, U. S. N., was washed overboard from the U. S. S. Smith, while attempting to clear a jam in the steering gear. Exhausted by the cold and rough sea, Robertson could no longer help himself, when Marcio, tying a line to his waist, jumped into the water. Catching the quartermaster, he clung to the half drowned man until the two were hauled aboard. Not only was the act of Marcio's one of great heroism, but the test of his courage was shown in the chance he took with such a rough sea. The gale at the time was one of the worst in years and the ship was rolling at fifty-five degrees. This young hero enlisted in the navy in April, 1914, at Philadelphia.

FUNSTON HAS A COWARD TEST

Nowadays they pick out the cowards before instead of after the battle, says a member of the medical staff at Funston. A trained staff at the medical camp spends its time in diagnosing the drafted man for symptoms of cowardice. When the symptoms are present the man is disqualified for service in the battle line. In some instances he is retained in the army and serves his country at menial tasks.

The officer of the medical staff who gives this information, says he has become an expert in this particular line of research, and has learned to spot the physical coward with accuracy, but that of the 45,000 men who have been trained at Funston only thirty have borne the bacilli of the hesitant font.

LOS ANGELES—California engineers are irrigating the fields of France and supplying soldiers with pure drinking water, according to a letter received here by O. W. Bauer, assistant engineer of the Indian Irrigation Bureau, from Captain C. R. Olberg, formerly superintendent of the bureau. Captain Olberg is with the 116th Engineers, an organization containing many Californians. Irrigation system are being utilized as near the line of fighting as can be gotten in order to supply the combatants with food.

LOS ANGELES—Several thousand Southern California lads are expected to take advantage of the trip to be made by the Los Angeles District Council of the Boy Scouts of America, to Catalina Island. Boy Scout officials have arranged a four-day program of hunting, fishing, drilling, swimming, boating, hiking and many other sports as can be crammed into the period. The trip, including meals and sleeping quarters, will cost each lad only $5 for the four days.

LOS ANGELES—Los Angeles, the Mecca of Thespians. If efforts of the recently organized Brotherhood Players are fruitful, an annual pilgrimage of religious and dramatic devotees will be made to the Southland metropolis. Over a thousand dollars were pledged in subscriptions at a preliminary organization meeting. The purpose of the society will be the open-air production of plays, possessing some special religious or dramatic significance to communal life.

OAKLAND, Cal.—It's tough to be famous. Especially when you're not the famous one. That is why Ernest Schmidt, a laborer of Oakland, is applying for a change in name. He wants the court to knock a few letters from his present name and let him be known as Smith. He gives his reason for the petition as being that he is being continually questioned by acquaintances as to whether or not he is related to Supervisor Eugene Schmidt of San Francisco, prominent political leader. Having no desire to have Supervisor Schmidt change his name he is willing to divorce himself from his.

LOS ANGELES—The Executive Budget Committee representing various civic and commercial bodies has submitted to Mayor Woodman a plan to abolish ten city commissions and place all of their activities under the jurisdiction of departments having single heads. The plan was suggested by Mayor Woodman. The new plan will abolish the Board of Public Works, Police Commission, Fire Commission, Humane Animal Commission, Public Service Commission, Board Public Utilities, Harbor Commission, Nursing Commission, Housing Commission and the Efficiency Commission and substitute single heads in each case. This would leave five departments having commissions, the parks, libraries, recreation, civil service, and municipal art.

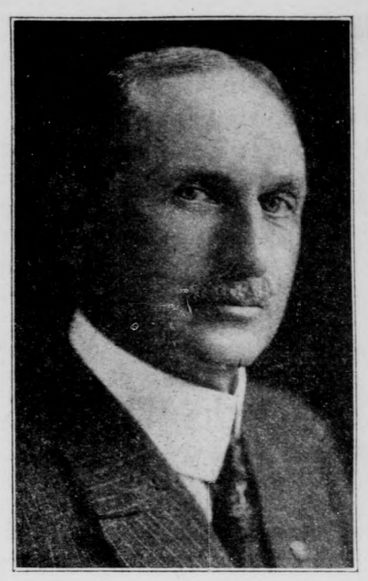
BERKELEY—College courses for policemen will be one of the ways to meet the shortage of men to fill the vacant places of war-bound minions of the law, according to Chief of Police Vollmer of Berkeley. According to Vollmer a university education will fit men for specializing in certain branches of police work, and increase the efficiency of crime prevention. Vollmer claims his plan for compelling policemen to attend colleges in their spare time has worked wonders in his department. Besides education, Vollmer recommends prohibition as a measure of reducing crime.

SACRAMENTO—California has an automobile for every nine persons in the state, according to P. J. Tehaney, superintendent of the state motor vehicle department. There are 335,000 automobiles registered in the state, reports Tehaney, which is an increase of over 200,000 machines since 1914. The registration in 1914 was 123,516.

SAN FRANCISCO—Women will take the place of men as forest service look-outs next season, it was predicted today by Richard Hammatt, U. S. forest service. Two young women, giving a trial this season, have proved the adaptability of girls for this type of work, he said. There are 85 look-outs in this state, all but two of them men, and the men are expected to be taken for war service. The chief duty of a look-out is to watch for forest fires and then take steps toward fighting them. To qualify the young women must not fear mountain lions, electrical storms or gales and must be willing to live a life of solitude. Also she must be a good mountain climber. Miss Hallie Daggett and Miss Mollie Ingoldsby, a former Los Angeles girl, are the present girl look-outs. "Miss Dagget works like a man and fears nothing," said Hammatt. "Not long ago she sighted a fire in the middle of the night and ran 10 miles to Sawyer bar. She is stationed at Eddy Gulch, Klamath National forest, Siskiyou county." Miss Ingoldsby is stationed on Mt. Hough, Plumas National forest, 8262 feet above the sea. Twice a day she has to climb a twenty foot pole to get a weather report. "I have seen her climb this pole in a 50 mile gale," said Hammatt.

SACRAMENTO—A bone-dry assembly and an even chance to land a majority senate. This is the prediction of the political wiseacres at the capitol as to the outcome of the fight between the drys and wets to elect assemblymen and senators who favor their respective stand on the national prohibition amendment.

The prohibitionists themselves are satisfied that they will elect enough candidates to have a safe majority in the assembly in 1919, but they are somewhat doubtful as to the strength they will have in the senate despite the fact that the politicians concede them an even chance to muster the majority in the upper house. In the eighty assembly districts 12 of the incumbents seeking re-election already have endorsed the national amendment and in 11 counties representing 31 districts all the candidates favor the ratification of the amendment. In other counties the drys have two or three candidates against one wet candidate, which gives the former a decided edge. The counties in which all the candidates are bone dry are Butte, Santa Cruz, Fresno, districts 50 and 52, Kings, San Bernardino, Riverside, Ventura, Los Angeles, districts 68 and 69, Orange, Imperial and San Diego. In the twenty senatorial districts five of the incumbents out for re-election favor the national amendment, while in four counties, Los Angeles, districts 36 and 38, Riverside and Fresno, all candidates are dry. Twenty members of the senate will be holdovers from 1917.



WILLIAM F. KNIGHT

Candidate for Senator, 36th District

At a meeting Saturday in Los Angeles, of the Executive Committee of the Association for Betterment of Public Service, Mrs. C. F. Gray President of the Parent-Teachers Association and a member of the Executive Committee, urged the support of every woman voter in Los Angeles County for the problems laid down by the Association in their selection of capable candidates to represent the citizens of Los Angeles County in the State Legislature.

"It is my opinion that the thinking women of Los Angeles County are vitally interested in the success of this movement," said Mrs. Gray, "it is the patriotic duty of every patriotic woman to get behind a work today that has for its purpose, economy in State Government and conservation of money for war work purposes. To enable every citizen to do his utmost in support of our Government's war work, it is up to the voters of this State to vote a course that will work for lower taxes. Today California taxes are the second highest in the Union and our state has been a political plum tree for politicians. We are fighting a war to rid the world of the very principles that obtain in a Government by commission. It is our duty to do our share right here in our state and the influence of the California Club Women is bound to be felt in a strong way in overcoming this evil at the next election."

The Association for Betterment of Public Service formed by business men and women of Los Angeles County have recommended the name of a candidate in every assembly and senatorial district for the serious consideration of the voters. These candidates were recommended by the Association after a careful investigation had been made of the capabilities and business qualifications of each one. Only men of recognized business ability were considered as the Association firmly believes that only men of this calibre are capable of giving the people of California the administration that they must have to reduce the high taxes that are now in vogue.

The efficiency and elimination of the unnecessary commission and the political job-holder are part of the principles laid down by the Association and for which to vote when you cast your ballot at the primaries for a candidate endorsed by this organization.

Every voter is urged to find out the name of the candidate endorsed by the Association for Betterment of Public Service in his or her district. This can be done by phoning or writing to the Association Headquarters in Los Angeles at No. 335 Consolidated Realty Building.

A soldier was vaccinated in camp. He wrote about it to his mother, who evidently was not familiar with army expressions: "Dear Mother: I just got shot in the arm."

The response came: "I will arrive on the next train. Mother."

CAMOUFLAGE

Mrs. Styles—You have a wonderful memory for dress, dear.

Mr. Styles—Well, I've seen a lot of it.

"You always seem to remember what I have worn. Do you recall what I had on the night you proposed marriage to me?"

"Why, yes; you had a sort of a foolish look on your face."

Out of the last harvest the American people, by abstinence, saved 140,000,000 bushels of wheat to feed the hungry Allied nations; and these same people are going to stay right on the sugar job and see it through.
